URSA Minor

With the new URSA Minor, URKUND administrators can have a general view of how much URKUND's top-performing anti-plagiarism system is being used within the organisation. Admins can see via URSA Minor whether the school's policy on using URKUND is being followed or whether more training is required among the staff. URSA Minor also gives the administrator the opportunity to create new accounts for new members of staff, remove former colleagues' accounts and send out log-in details to colleagues who have misplaced their own.

Plagiarism Seminar for Teachers

TEACHER

Within most teaching groups, the pedagogical view on the problems of plagiarism varies greatly and there is often no central policy of how to deal with plagiarism. Based on our experiences, we offer a three hour lecture that highlights the problem from different viewpoints and raises potential questions and solutions to be discussed within the teaching group.

This seminar is built upon Swedish pedagogical methods and is aimed at the Swedish market.

URKUND Advanced Training Pack

TEACHER

URKUND's Advanced Training Pack for teachers and head teachers is on the theme "Preventing plagiarism through know-how, procedures and management". This is based on URKUND's 4-stage model. It provides the school with specific tools for dealing with plagiarism. Everything is customised to the organisation's needs and wishes. Choose the whole pack or some of the steps below.

PRINCIPAL

Recommended for teachers and head teachers in primary and secondary schools, universities and colleges.

Prices from 29 500 DKK. Prices do not include any travel expenses.

1. ANALYSIS OF THE EXISTING SITUATION

We ask the teachers to answer a web survey. There are also interviews with some head teachers and a cross-section of teachers. The interviews are supplemented by questions sent by e-mail.

2. FOCUS DAY

Lecture

The FOCUS DAY starts off with a lecture for teachers and head teachers. The lecture takes 1,5 - 2 hours, including two breaks. The lecturer has long and documented experience in the field.

Workshop

Teachers and head teachers discuss a number of different situations based on the impressions gained during the lecture. The aim is to approach a consensus about the pros and cons of various methods for measuring proficiency after a particular stage.

3. FEEDBACK

FEEDBACK is important. Based on the results from the previous steps, we produce proposals for a policy. These help to give the school clear guidelines for what matters when cheating is discovered, and the consequences and actions that ensue. This is valuable for both teachers and pupils. An action plan based on the views of the head teachers and teachers is produced.

4. FOLLOW-UPS

After the FOCUS DAY, the school is provided with a programme for follow-ups, and an implementation plan for URKUND. This makes it easy to follow up the advanced training, and see what effects the work has had.
